Onslow County Public Library offers free grant-seekers workshop, Guide to Online Grant Seeker Resources

(Onslow County) Onslow County Public Library will offer a free workshop entitled Guide to Online Grant Seeker Resources on Tuesday, February 7 at 9:00 am at the Main Library in Jacksonville. Non-profit organizations and other grant-seekers who attend can learn how to become better grant-seekers by utilizing free resources offered through the Foundation Center. Attendees will learn how to keep up-to-date on key philanthropy news, build capacity in proposal writing and fundraising, and explore the free resources available through the Foundation Center's web site.

Onslow County Public Library was selected as one of only 13 North Carolina Libraries to become a member of the Foundation Center's Cooperating Collection. Established in 1956, the Foundation Center is the leading source of information about philanthropy worldwide. Through data, analysis, and training, it connects people who want to change the world to the resources they need to succeed. The Center maintains the most comprehensive database on U.S. grantmakers and their grants. It also operates research, education, and training programs designed to advance knowledge of philanthropy at every level. Thousands of people visit the Center's web site each day.

Those interested in attending this free workshop are asked to register in advance by calling Karen Moore at 910.455.7350, ext. 1421. For more information about Foundation Center resources, visit foundationcenter.org or contact the Onslow County Public Library at 910.455.7350 or online at www.onslowcountync.gov/library.
